POLICING OVERSIGHT STANDARDS

PREAMBLE

For ease of understanding and readability the term “oversight agency” throughout this document refers to any police commission as defined in the Alberta Police Act.

The first section in this document relates to the municipality and not the oversight agency. As defined in the Alberta Police Act, [Section: 28(1)(2)] it is the municipality’s responsibility to establish a policing oversight agency through bylaw, select and appoint board members, and prescribe the rules governing the operations of the policing oversight agency.

The other standards in this document relate to the oversight agency. These are minimum standards that reflect the legislative requirements under the Alberta Police Act.

STATEMENT

Alberta Justice and Solicitor General will continually review and modify these standards in consultation with policing oversight agencies and the Alberta Association of Police Governance to ensure they accurately reflect appropriate benchmarks.

AUTHORITY

The Policing Oversight Standards (Standards) were created under the authority of Section 3.1 of the Alberta Police Act (Act).

The Standards were developed in consultation with stakeholders to provide a tool that supports the provision of adequate and effective policing through community input into policing received and oversight of police practice.

COMPLIANCE

In accordance with the Section 3.1 of the Act, compliance with applicable standards is mandatory. Compliance will be assessed through the Alberta Policing Oversight Standards audit system established under Section 8(2) of the Act.

The Policing Standards and Audits Section (SAS) of Alberta Justice and Solicitor General will conduct compliance reviews to evaluate the structure and function of Alberta’s policing oversight agencies against the Alberta Policing Oversight Standards. The SAS was created under the authority of section 3.1 of the Act and is responsible to the Director of Law Enforcement under section 8(2). Each police oversight body will be audited against the Standards on a 4 year cycle.

Compliance reviews serve two purposes:

- Provide a vehicle that allows the oversight body to demonstrate accountability to the citizens they serve, and;
- Promote a consistent standard of practice among policing oversight agencies throughout the province.

Once the provincial standards are in place, oversight agencies will maintain a set of records—termed compliance files—that demonstrate compliance with the provincial standards. Compliance files consist of folders that contain evidence demonstrating proof of compliance with each standard. The required proof is determined by the nature of the standard. For example, proof of compliance with a standard that requires an agency to have policy related to a practice would be a file that contains a copy of the related policy document. A file that demonstrates compliance with a standard that requires an agency to produce a report (i.e.; business plan; statistical report) must contain a copy of that report.

POLICING OVERSIGHT STANDARDS

The compliance review would include all or some of the following:

- A tour of oversight agency offices;
- Interviews with members of the oversight agency or other stakeholders; and
- Review of compliance files including supporting documents such as: annual plan, policies and procedures; and reports.

Compliance reviews will be conducted by members of the Alberta Policing Standards and Audits Section and the Manager of Policing Oversight & Funding Programs. In accordance with the established audit cycle an audit team will contact each oversight agency in the province and coordinate dates for the compliance review.

Well in advance of the review date, the Manager of Policing Oversight & Funding Programs will provide the chair and members with a detailed schedule for the review. On the day of the review, the team will meet with the chair or his/her representative to discuss any last minute issues and answer questions. During the review the team will work with the chair/representative to correct any minor issues. When complete the team will conduct an exit interview with the chair/representative to discuss the findings and any recommendations.

As soon as possible after the compliance review, the Manager of Policing Oversight & Funding Programs will forward a draft copy of the compliance report to the chair for review (accuracy). After final edit, the audit team lead will forward a copy of the final report to the chair indicating the standards have been met (i.e. in compliance) and those that have not. The final report will also be forwarded to Mayor and Council

If necessary, the report will include plans to address any standards that have not been met as well as audit team actions to re-evaluate those standards. The report may also include recommendations for the agency to consider for future improvements and compliance.

Upon completion of the compliance review, a Minister-signed certificate will be presented to the oversight agency.

LEGISLATIVE FRAMEWORK

PREAMBLE

The Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms states Canada is founded upon the "rule of law" which essentially means:

- We are governed by public rules made by constitutionally authorized lawmakers;
- We recognize the processes set out in the law; and
- No one is above the law.

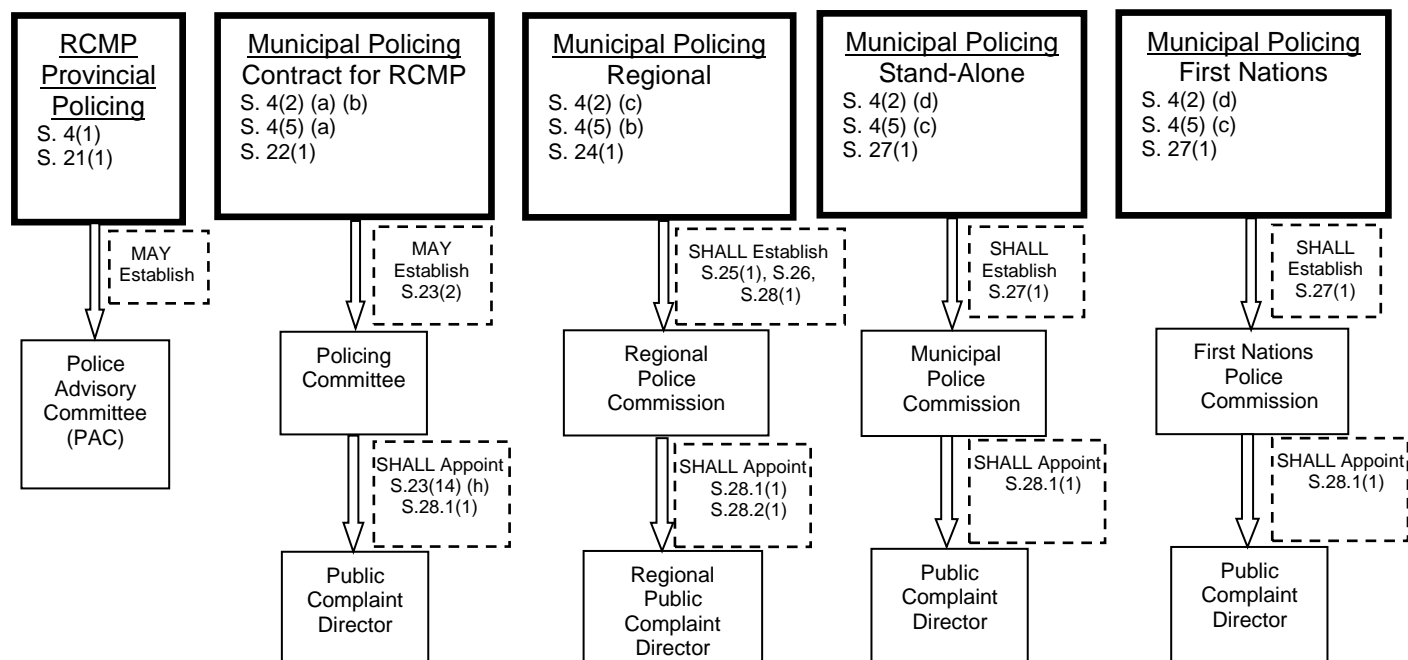

The Charter sets out a variety of legal rights, including this basic one: "Everyone has the right to life, liberty and security of the person and the right not to be deprived thereof except in accordance with the principles of fundamental justice."

Under the Canadian constitution, the responsibility for enacting criminal law rests with the federal government, while responsibility for the administration of justice rests with the provinces. In conducting their duties, the police must ensure their actions are consistent with:

- The provisions of the Charter of Rights and Freedoms;
- Any agreements governing the police service; and
- The provisions of an array of federal and provincial statutes including, for example, those governing freedom of information, protection of privacy and human rights.

Alberta Police Act

The Alberta Police Act mandates the Government of Alberta to ensure adequate and effective policing is maintained throughout Alberta. The Police Act sets out requirements and responsibilities of municipalities, police services, police commissions, policing committees, and the Public Complaint Director.

ROLE OF POLICE IN ALBERTA

PREAMBLE

The police are responsible to the citizens they serve and for the maintenance of the public peace and the prevention of crime.

- Primary focus: address individual and community concerns about stability and safety that arise from crime, antisocial behaviour and other serious disturbances.

To address concerns police:

- Employ the judicious use of law enforcement;
- Help the community identify and solve problems;
- Enhance community awareness of risk; and
- Develop productive partnerships with groups and organizations in the community to create capacity to solve problems.

As guardians of community stability, police organizations must be seen as legitimate and police members must be trusted.

DEFINITION OF ADEQUATE AND EFFECTIVE POLICING:

Adequate policing is equitable and efficient:

- Equitable: Provides the community specified needed and desired level and standard of service.
- Efficient: Balance community specified needed and desired level and standard of service against the cost.

Effective policing meets specified goals developed by community and police:

- Community specified level and standard of service.

Level of service - resources available to police:

- Number of members (including civilian specialists) of an agency;
- Availability of members to do work; and
- Facilities and equipment.

Standard of service - nature and quality of work provided:

- Staff knowledge, skills and abilities;
- Equipment and specialized resources; and
- Organization oversight (internal): quality of supervision and management; policies/procedures; planning/reporting.

Role and responsibilities of oversight agencies:

- Role: Ensure the community receives efficient and effective policing.
- Responsibilities:
 - Oversee the administration of an agreement to provide police services;
 - Represent the interests and concerns of the public and of the council to the chief / officer in charge (OIC);
 - Work with the chief / OIC to develop a yearly plan of priorities and strategies for policing that reflects community and council interests;
 - Monitor the implementation and progress of the police performance against the yearly policing plan;
 - Assist the chief / officer in charge in addressing public complaints;
 - Appoint the public complaint director;
 - Assist in selecting OIC / subject to ratification by Council, appoint the Chief of Police.

OVERSIGHT OF POLICE SERVICES

PREAMBLE

A variety of processes are used to oversee police services in Alberta. Along with legislative requirements described in the Alberta Police Act, the Alberta Law Enforcement Framework stipulates that law enforcement organizations have forums in place that facilitate meaningful community input into local policing needs and priorities; and that they have credible oversight mechanisms for addressing concerns regarding the conduct of law enforcement personnel.

- Strategic Direction 7: All Alberta municipalities will have adequate, transparent and meaningful community input into local policing needs and priorities.
- Strategic Direction 8: The police public complaint process will be responsive and timely thereby enhancing oversight to Alberta police officers and police services.

STATEMENT

1. Provincial Police Service

The Province provides policing services to every municipal district and Métis settlement, as well as towns, villages and summer villages that have populations not greater than 5,000. The Province provides this through the RCMP Provincial Police Service Agreement. Oversight agencies for provincial police services may be established by council and are to be called Police Advisory Committees (PACs).

2. Municipal Police Services

Municipalities that have populations greater than 5,000 must assume responsibility for establishing and maintaining their own police service. The Police Act provides the following options for municipal policing:

a) RCMP Municipal Police Service Agreement

Contract with the federal or provincial government or another municipality for the provision of policing services which typically involves entering into agreement with the RCMP. A municipality that has entered into an agreement with the Government of Alberta or Canada to provide municipal policing by the RCMP may establish a policing committee as an oversight agency.

b) Stand-alone Municipal Police Services

Establish a stand-alone municipal police service. A municipality that has established a stand-alone municipal police service shall also establish a municipal police commission as an oversight agency.

c) Regional Police Services

The Police Act allows for councils of two or more municipalities to enter into an agreement to be policed by one regional police service. Municipalities that have established a regional police service shall also establish a regional police commission as an oversight agency.

3. First Nations Police Services

The RCMP provides policing services to most of Alberta's First Nations communities. Some First Nations communities have, however, made other policing arrangements through agreements with the provincial and federal governments. These are typically through a Tripartite Agreement or a Community Tripartite Agreement.

These agreements provide for the establishment of stand-alone First Nation police services, which shall be overseen by a First Nation police commission as the oversight agency. The responsibilities of the commission, which are defined in the Tripartite Policing Agreement, mirror those found in the Police Act for the establishment of a municipal police commission.

Part I

Roles and Responsibilities (RR)

ROLES AND RESPONSIBILITIES (RR)

RR.1 – Establishing a Police Oversight Agency

PREAMBLE

Although the Police Act assigns the Minister responsibility for ensuring that policing is adequate and effective, it also requires governing bodies to oversee the policing provided to their citizens. Albertans expect their police services to be accountable and to operate with integrity, fairness and transparency.

The core principles for oversight of policing in Alberta are:

- The participation of the public in determining the priorities of the police service is essential;
- The police service must be accountable to the public; and
- The police service must operate in the absence of political influence.

STATEMENT

Pursuant to the Police Act and to guidance provided in the Alberta Law Enforcement Framework (2010), local governing bodies should establish a police oversight body that will facilitate meaningful community input into local policing needs and provide credible mechanisms to address concerns regarding the conduct of law enforcement personnel.

The Police Act allows for the creation of one of three types of oversight bodies based on the relationship between the local government and the means by which the law enforcement agency is funded. Oversight body types are described in the following sections of the Act.

- Policing Committees: Section 23(1) (RCMP municipal service only)
- Police Commission: Sections 25(1) and 28(1) (independent municipal police service, regional police service and First Nations police service)

RR.1.1 Police Commission

Municipalities that have established a Regional, Stand-Alone, or First Nations municipal police service, shall, via resolution/bylaw, establish a police commission in accordance with the provisions of the Alberta Police Act. The bylaw or policy shall:

- a. Prescribe the rules governing the operation of the police commission;
- b. Describe how members of the police commission are appointed;
- c. Outline number of, and any special considerations of members (non-voting, council representatives, youth representatives, other organizations etc.);
- d. Describe the length of board member appointments;
- e. Describe procedures for resignations and removal of members;

PREAMBLE

Once a municipal police service has been established, the second requirement is an oversight agency that will oversee the police service. To fulfill this requirement, the municipality shall select and appoint qualified oversight agency members through a process sensitive to the principles of openness and equity.

STATEMENT

Although recruiting board members is the responsibility of the municipality, it is the oversight agency that will provide proof of compliance for this process. It is expected that the oversight agency will be aware of the municipality's board member selection and appointment process for auditing and compliance purposes.

RR.3 – Oversight Agency Role

PREAMBLE

The delicate balance between the independence and authority of law enforcement on one hand, and their accountability to the public and the civilian authority, on the other, is a vital part of our democratic society. Oversight and governing bodies need to strike this balance between police independence to conduct investigations and maintain order without undue political or other influence, with the need for accountability to the public.

Policing oversight agencies in Alberta are required to ensure efficient and effective policing and provide a local mechanism for receiving and monitoring public complaints against the police service.

STATEMENT

This standard is intended to ensure that the role, responsibilities and expectations of the oversight agency, the municipality, the municipal police service and the community are met.

RR 3.1 Police Commission responsibilities
